

Mastering the Possibilities

Orange City residents learned how to nourish body, mind and spirit at the Festival of Possibilities April 16

Stretching out — Christine Kee, at right, a yoga instructor from Juice Plus/Tower Garden, leads the Super Heroes from Stetson University and kids at the festival in a yoga session.

Fancy headwear — From left, Patricia Springer and Helen Fisher of Enchanted Walkabouts pose for a photo at the Festival of Possibilities. The event was sponsored by five area businesses.

Blowing in the wind — Hattie Sutterfield of Enchanted Houses of Fairies, shown here with her fairie wings, blows bubbles at the Festival of Possibilities.

Learning to feel the beat — The purple ranger from the Stetson University Super Heroes shares the art of drumming with a young apprentice.

Beacon
photos
by Kitty
Allen

Stories of enchantment — At left, storyteller David Bailey entrances kids with a riveting tale of wonder. Above, Judy Boudreau of Orchid Rain sits and relaxes by some of her wares.

Drum circle — The Stetson University Super Heroes join drumming instructor Remmi Nicole and a few attendees at the Festival of Possibilities in Orange City to create some beats. The April 16 festival at the Royal Oaks Professional Centre in Orange City attracted business owners, instructors and patrons from around West Volusia.